Paul Frederic Simon (born October 13, 1941) is an American singer-songwriter and actor. His fame and commercial success beginning as half of the duo Simon & Garfunkel (originally known as Tom & Paul) with Art Garfunkel. Simon was responsible for writing nearly all of the pair's songs, including "The Sound of Silence", "Mrs. Robinson", and "Bridge over Troubled Water". The duo split up in 1970 and Simon began a successful solo career, recording three acclaimed albums over the next five years. In 1985, he released South African township music, which sold 14 million copies worldwide on its release. Simon starred in the film One-Trick Pony (1980) and co-wrote the Broadway musical The Producers. In 2003, Simon released his 13th solo album, Stranger to Stranger, which debuted at No. 1 on the Billboard 200.

Financial independence is a state in which an individual can live on without having to depend on income from someone else. Financially independent people have assets that generate income that covers their expenses. Income you earn without having to work for it is called “passive income”. For example, if someone receives $5000 per month but their expenses total $4000, they can live on their dividends and interest on their expenses to live (with some left over). Under these conditions, they are financially independent. A person’s assets and liabilities are an important part of achieving financial independence. An asset is anything that can be converted into cash (liquidated) if a person has to pay debt, where the asset provides compensation. (Homes and automobiles with rental income are assets.) Age and existing wealth or current salary don’t guarantee enough income to meet their needs from sources other than their own. They have achieved financial independence. If a 25-year-old person has assets that generate $101 or more per month, they have

Wilco is an American alternative rock band based in Chicago, Illinois, formed in 1994 by the reunion of alternative country group Old 97's following singer Jay Farrar. Wilco's lineup changed frequently in its first decade, with only frontman Jeff Tweedy and bassist John Stirratt from the original incarnation remaining. In 2004, the lineup has been stabilized, consisting of Tweedy, Stirratt, Nels Cline, multi-instrumentalist Mike Rodden, and Matt Sansone, keyboard player.
